

Focusforge – Joke Book

A Spark & Anvil joke book. Groan-worthy puns, tricky riddles, silly nonsense, and real fun facts from the world of Focusforge – read them out loud and make someone laugh.

I tried to organize my thoughts, but they refused to get in line -- they said they preferred "free-range thinking."

How to use this book

Read a joke, pause at the question, and try to guess the answer before you read on. Best of all: read them out loud to a friend, a grown-up, or your class. A good laugh makes the tricky stuff easier – that's real science.

Spark & Anvil is a 501(c)(3) public charity. Every app, story, and book is free, forever – no ads, no in-app purchases, no tracking. Released under Creative Commons BY-NC-SA 4.0 for educational reuse.

Focusforge – Joke Book

How to use this book

Puns

Keep laughing

Keep exploring online

Puns

I tried to organize my thoughts, but they refused to get in line -- they said they preferred "free-range thinking."

My working memory and I have a great relationship -- it's just short-term.

I have a photographic memory, but I keep forgetting to load the film.

The calendar felt overwhelmed -- it had too many dates to keep track of.

My planner broke up with me. It said I never followed through on our plans.

I told my brain to focus and it said, "Sorry, I'm currently buffering."

The stop sign was great at inhibitory control -- it always knew when to put the brakes on.

My to-do list is getting so long, it needs its own to-do list.

I tried to multitask, but my brain filed a complaint with HR for overwork.

The clock and the timer got into an argument -- they just couldn't find the right time to resolve it.

Cognitive flexibility is a lot like yoga for your brain -- sometimes you just have to stretch your thinking.

My homework planner is so organized, it even scheduled time for procrastination.

I asked my brain for a quick decision and it said, "Let me sleep on it... for a week."

The eraser had great impulse control -- it always thought before it rubbed things out.

I'm reading a book about focus. I keep putting it down, though -- something else always catches my eye.

My brain's GPS says "recalculating" every time the teacher changes the assignment.

The study group broke up because they couldn't concentrate -- they kept getting divided.

Time management is like juggling -- except the balls are invisible and someone keeps throwing new ones at you.

My brain told me to take a break, but my homework said, "Not on my watch."

I tried to catch my wandering thoughts, but they were way too fast -- Olympic sprinters of distraction.

Keep laughing

That's 20 jokes from Focusforge. Made someone laugh? Try making up your own – the best jokes are the ones you tell.

Spark & Anvil is a 501(c)(3) public charity. Every app, story, and book is free, forever – no ads, no in-app purchases, no tracking. Released under Creative Commons BY-NC-SA 4.0 for educational reuse.

Keep exploring online

Play it now	Meet the cast	More free books

https://spark-and-anvil.org/play/focusforge	https://spark-and-anvil.org/cast/focusforge	https://spark-and-anvil.org/books

Scan a code with any phone camera, or type the address. Every app, story, and book is free, forever – no account, no tracking.