

SafetyForge – Joke Book

A Spark & Anvil joke book. Groan-worthy puns, tricky riddles, silly nonsense, and real fun facts from the world of SafetyForge – read them out loud and make someone laugh.

I changed my password to "incorrect" so my computer always tells me when I forget it:

"Your password is incorrect."

How to use this book

Read a joke, pause at the question, and try to guess the answer before you read on. Best of all: read them out loud to a friend, a grown-up, or your class. A good laugh makes the tricky stuff easier – that's real science.

Spark & Anvil is a 501(c)(3) public charity. Every app, story, and book is free, forever – no ads, no in-app purchases, no tracking. Released under Creative Commons BY-NC-SA 4.0 for educational reuse.

SafetyForge – Joke Book

How to use this book

Puns

Keep laughing

Keep exploring online

Puns

I changed my password to "incorrect" so my computer always tells me when I forget it:

"Your password is incorrect."

My digital footprint is so big, even Bigfoot is impressed.

Phishing emails are like bad fishing trips -- they throw out a lot of bait, but you should never bite.

The firewall applied for a job in security. It said, "I've been blocking threats for years -- it's kind of my whole thing."

My privacy settings and I have a close relationship -- I keep them tight.

Two-factor authentication walks into a bar. The bouncer says, "ID please." 2FA says, "Here's my ID AND a code from my phone." The bouncer is impressed.

I told the pop-up ad it wasn't welcome, but it just kept coming back. Talk about not taking a hint.

The cookie on the website wasn't chocolate chip -- it was tracking chip. Much less tasty.

Cyberbullies are like trolls under a bridge -- they try to stop you, but you can always find a better path.

The VPN walked into a meeting and nobody could figure out where it was from. That was the whole point.

I asked the app why it needed my location. It said, "I just want to know where our relationship is going."

Strong passwords are like good jokes -- they're long, unpredictable, and hard to crack.

The internet never forgets. It's like that one friend who remembers EVERYTHING you said in third grade.

Screen time management is the art of saying "one more minute" for only one actual minute. It's harder than it sounds.

My antivirus software is like my immune system -- it works best when it's updated.

The spam folder is where dreams of winning a million dollars go to die.

Social media is like a highlight reel -- everyone looks like they're winning, but nobody posts the bloopers.

I asked my browser about my search history. It said, "Are you sure you want to go there?"

The CAPTCHA asked me to prove I'm not a robot. I failed twice. Now I'm questioning everything.

"Terms and conditions" is the longest book nobody has ever read but everyone has agreed to.

Keep laughing

That's 20 jokes from SafetyForge. Made someone laugh? Try making up your own – the best jokes are the ones you tell.

Spark & Anvil is a 501(c)(3) public charity. Every app, story, and book is free, forever – no ads, no in-app purchases, no tracking. Released under Creative Commons BY-NC-SA 4.0 for educational reuse.

Keep exploring online

Play it now	Meet the cast	More free books

https://spark-and-anvil.org/play/safetyforge	https://spark-and-anvil.org/cast/safetyforge	https://spark-and-anvil.org/books

Scan a code with any phone camera, or type the address. Every app, story, and book is free, forever – no account, no tracking.