To reach new heights in their presentation!

How to use this book

Read a joke, pause at the question, and try to guess the answer before you read on. Best of all: read them out loud to a friend, a grown-up, or your class. A good laugh makes the tricky stuff easier – that's real science.

Puns

Why did the public speaker bring a ladder?

💡 To reach new heights in their presentation!

What did the microphone say to the speaker?

💡 "You really amplify the conversation!"

Why was the speech nervous?

💡 It was afraid of losing its voice!

What do you call someone who talks in their sleep?

💡 A rest-oration speaker!

Why did the debater bring a dictionary?

💡 To have the last word!

What did the audience say to the boring presentation?

💡 "You've lost your point -- and my attention!"

Why did the echo win the listening contest?

💡 It was the best at repeating what it heard!

What did the vocal cords say after a long speech?

💡 "We're a little strained right now!"

Why did the PowerPoint slide feel flat?

💡 It lacked a good transition!

What's a speaker's favorite type of footwear?

💡 Loafers -- because they never want to be caught tongue-tied!

Why did the persuasive speech go to the gym?

💡 To build a stronger argument!

What did the topic sentence say to the supporting details?

💡 "I couldn't make my point without you!"

Why did the listener bring a net to the discussion?

💡 To catch every word!

What do you call a presentation with too many statistics?

💡 A numbers game that nobody wins!

Why did the rhetorical question go unanswered?

 Because it wasn't really asking!

What did the thesis statement say?

 "Everything revolves around me -- and I can prove it!"

Why was the impromptu speaker so relaxed?

 They had nothing prepared to worry about!

What did the counterargument say to the argument?

 "I see your point, but let me poke some holes in it!"

Why did the volume knob feel important?

 Because everything depends on how loud you make your point!

What do you call a pause that lasts too long?

 An awkward silence -- also known as a dramatic effect gone wrong!
