Meet the cast — and what each one teaches

Character	What they carry
Twist	Wordplay riddles — puns, homophones, semantic misdirection (fair-trick framing)
Aha	Logic riddles — patient frame-finding; 'I don't get it yet' = productive cognitive state
Reckon	Math + number riddles — sequences, hidden constraints, numeric patterns
Pan	Visual + spatial riddles — picture puzzles, perspective rotation
Yarn	Mystery + detective + synthesis riddles — multi-step narrative with fair-planted clues
Veil	'What am I?' metaphor riddles — an object describes itself in true, veiled clues ('a face and two hands but no arms' = clock); every clue fair, never a lie
Jumble	Letter riddles — anagrams, palindromes, hidden words (LISTEN→SILENT); every letter is in plain sight, so a slow solver isn't missing anything
Slant	Lateral thinking — cracking a puzzle by questioning a hidden assumption; being stuck means your clever, assuming brain is working, not failing
Cobble	Riddle-making — building your own riddle backward from the answer; a riddle is a gift not a gotcha, so every clue stays true and findable
Feint	Trick questions — the misdirection hides in how the question is asked ('Moses on the ark'); the cure is slow down and read every word, not 'be smarter'
